Opportunist - Role Model (4/6)

You are an objective witness who uses their communication skills and experience to teach and influence others.

Line 4, also called the Opportunist, is the line of networking. It is through this networking that you will land a job, find your significant other, or attract other opportunities. The foundation of the 4th line that you posses is your social circle - family, friends, job and co-workers, the groups you participate in, etc. Because of this you will often look to have a replacement lined up before moving on and when you do move on from, say, a job, friends or a place, you will likely hold on to at least one of the other supportive foundations.

Both the 6th and the 4th line go through 3 stages during your life:

- In the first 28 years or until Saturn returns

You are an expert in making mistakes and getting into different, not always pleasant situations. You are an experimenter who constantly stumbles upon something that does not work. You are introspective and experimental, constantly internalizing the experience and thinking through "Why did I fail? Why did this event happen, is there more to it?". This part of your life is unpleasant and demoralizing, but it serves the purpose to show you what it feels like to be on "the battlefield".

- From 28-50 years or during your second Saturn cycle

You are no longer on "the battlefield", self-reflecting your experience all the time. You are now learning about life through the experimentation of others and then pulling in this wisdom and internalizing it. You might feel less in-the-action and slightly more passive when it comes to learning through experience. You are an observer.

- From 50 onward, during the third Saturn cycle or one Chiron cycle:

You are ready to leave your observatory and finally be the role model. Thanks to the trial and error of your younger self and the observations you did between the age 28-50, you have compiled a wealth of wisdom ready to be shared. But while you are a social being you are also reserved - you won't be preachy but come out and share only when called upon. This can be a dilemma to you and those around you. You might appear to be passive from the outside but in reality you are waiting for that call out to contribute your wisdom for the benefit of yourself and the others.

Generator

Every day, you have the opportunity to listen to your inner voice and attune with the energy within your body to guide your actions and decisions. When you do this, you may find that life flows seamlessly and events unfold naturally. The right people may come into your life and opportunities may arise that align with your unique path and goals.

As a Generator type, you have the ability to act on your own and have the energy and drive to achieve what you set out to do. However, patience may be a challenge for you. By listening to the "uhuh" or "unhuh" sounds of your Sacral Center - the source of your power and action - you can learn to wait for a response and avoid feeling stuck. This is true for all Generators, who make up 68% of the population and provide the life force energy that keeps the world moving. The Sacral Center also plays a key role in sexuality and the continuation of our species. By attuning with this energy and listening to your inner voice, you can live a fulfilling and satisfying life.

By learning to respond to life from your gut and trusting in the timing of the universe, you can overcome fear and frustration and experience a profound sense of satisfaction. It may be tempting to initiate action out of fear that nothing will happen if you wait, but this is often just your mind trying to get in the way. However, this fear is unfounded, because the Sacral power within you is like a strong magnet that attracts everything you need when the time is right - whether it's relationships, wealth, or work.

Instead of worrying about the future, it's important to stay present in the now and pay attention to synchronicities - the seemingly random events and opportunities that appear in your life. These may appear to be pure luck, but they are often a sign that the universe is working in your favor and guiding you towards your goals. By attuning with the energy within your body and listening to your inner voice, you can trust in the timing of the universe and live a fulfilling and satisfying life.

As a Generator, you may find yourself involved in projects or committed to people or things that don't hold your interest or bring you satisfaction. This is often because you feel obligated to take on these responsibilities or because you have invested a lot of energy and don't want to back out. However, continuing to do things that don't align with your interests and values can lead to frustration and a feeling of being a slave to others.

To avoid this, it's important to listen to your inner voice and the "yes" or "no" response of your Sacral Center when deciding whether or not to commit to something. A "yes" response may feel like your gut is opening up and pulling you towards the thing you are presented with, while a "no" response may feel like a small contraction, with your gut pulling away from the question. By paying attention to these responses and making decisions that align with your values and interests, you can avoid frustration and maintain your power and autonomy.

If you don't listen to your inner voice and the "yes" or "no" response of your Sacral Center, you may find yourself becoming a slave to others - particularly Projectors and Manifestors who may try to take advantage of your energy and drive. To avoid this, it's important to check your Sacral response before agreeing to do something. Simply say "Let me think about it" and take some time to listen to your gut and make a decision that aligns with your values and interests.

Remember, the life force within you is powerful and has the ability to create and build civilizations. This is why others may want to tap into your energy and why money and other forms of power are often based on this life force. By knowing what and whom to give your energy to, you can maintain your autonomy and power and avoid becoming a slave to others.

Non-Manifesting (Pure) Generators have their Sacral Center defined but have no motor Center (Root, Sacral, Solar Plexus, Heart) connecting to the Throat Center - the center of manifestation. They must not initiate, even though we've been brought up to believe that we must always initiate - to "just do it". Only Manifestors, who account for only 9% of the population, are capable of "just doing it", meaning most of the world's population is living a life out of line with their true design.

To Respond

Since you are a Generator, your Strategy is to respond to life. Even though we've been brought up to believe that we must always initiate - to "just do it", you should listen to your Sacral response, which is in the form of a simple "yes" or "no". This is how you should formulate the question. A "yes" response could be felt as if your gut opens up to embrace and pulls you towards the thing you are presented with. A "no" could be felt like a small contraction, your gut pulling away from the question.

Emotional

Emotional Authority lies in the Solar Plexus. It is the strongest Authority from all 7, meaning if you have Solar Plexus defined you must have an Emotional Authority no matter what. Half the world population have an Emotional Authority and most of them make decisions before reaching emotional clarity. You must wait for emotional clarity before making a decision. There is no truth in the present moment. Truth is revealed in time. If you are required to make an immediate decision, do not rush, at the very least "sleep over it".

Another important aspect in Solar Plexus Authority is the 4 types of waves. Understanding your waves is very important, because depending on those waves you see reality in a different way, for example when you are at your high, overexcited and feeling great, you might rush to make a decision which later you feel terrible about. You can only understand the reality when your waves go into a neutral position and you see clearly. Make decisions by the phrase "The morning is wiser than the evening".

Your waves:

- Source

This wave is stable until triggered by someone. 59-6 channel is very powerful and is the source of all waves coming out of the Solar Plexus. Because it is the only channel connecting Solar Plexus to the Sacral Center, it penetrates the aura of others making them want to tap into this powerful channel.

Single

All of your defined Centers are connected in a single energetic circuit. Everything is fixed together in a wholeness and self-sufficiency, independent of other people's opinions, and everything you need for self-realization is already within you. Your Definition provides you with consistency which you can rely on - you feel how you feel, you think what you think - there is no miscommunication and doubt within yourself.
